THE MINISTER OF CONSUMER AFFAIRS, FOOD AND PUBLIC DISTRIBUTION (SHRI SHARAD YADAV): (a) to (c) Prices of essential commodities, as others, are subject to variations depending on the demand and supply and contingent factors. However, prices of most of the essential commodities have remained steady over the year. The prices are regularly monitored to contain any abnormal price rise. Government announces Minimum Support Prices (MSP) for cereals, pulses and oilseeds based on recommendations of Commission for Agricultural Costs and Prices every year. Natural calamities like floods, drought and deficient rainfall are also taken into account while fixing MSP to protect the interest of the farmers. The issue prices of essential commodities like rice, wheat, sugar and kerosene are fixed at a lower level than open market prices for distribution through Public Distribution System to protect the interests of consumers, particularly, of vulnerable sections.
